Dear Michael,

I have just spoken to Laurel about Dr. Paulo and Alexandra Correa of Toronto, Canada and their extraordinary developments connected with "aether" motors, PAGD (patented, Pulsed Abnormal Glow Discharge devices) electricity generators, and other biophysical studies.

I am sending you the four most recent issues of Infinite Energy, three of which are quite heavy with some of this material (beginning with issue #37 and culminating with #39). (I also enclose the first issue of Infinite Energy (No.7), which began our coverage of these fine scientists back in 1996.) The advent of their aether motors, my witnessing them, and my own independent confirmation of the Reich-Einstein experiment began the most recent phase of coverage. There is more to come also. I decide to fax you two of my editorials (from IE#37 and #39) to give you part of my perspective. The rest of the material will come via Priority Mail going out later today. [I regret that you were somehow dropped inadvertently from our Complimentary VIP list – you are now back on!]

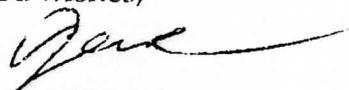

Please DO visit their web site www.aetherometry.com to learn much more.

As I told Laurel, this is just an exploration, to see if you have further interest. The Correas authorized my contacting you. They have not been avid seekers of publicity—quite the contrary, which has occasionally frustrated me. However, they are seekers of scientific truth and might wish a larger audience to know about their painstakingly carried out and self-financed scientific work. I think they may well be amenable to having you do a story on this work, but I do not know what they will eventually agree to.

With that said, I have absolutely no doubt in my mind that if you were to visit their lab and see what I have seen and have testified to (for example in the editorial in Issue #39), you would be convinced that this is legitimate science and technology. (In my most recent visit I experienced much more, and was shown the innards of the aether motor circuitry—there are absolutely no batteries or other potential storage devices within the electronic box To say that this story would merit coverage by you would be, in the context of what I believe to be valid science, a profound understatement. This story dwarfs in importance anything that has happened in cold fusion/low-energy nuclear reactions, and you well know how important that is to me! Enjoy...

All good wishes,
